01. Architecture

Architecture design is a delicate combination between art and science and technology. Your free space will be built to complete in a balanced way but still achieve aesthetic values. Architecture design also brings harmony to the layout and installation of space between architecture and structure. Help you feel less bored by creating a new space that is colorful, creative, interesting and full of life.

There is also a harmonious combination of lighting, electricity, water supply and drainage, air conditioning, ventilation, etc., creating a high-class living environment, fully equipped and comfortable for the owner.

02. Interior

Interior design is not just the presentation of home decoration ideas according to 2D and 3D drawing models. It must also show a reasonable distribution between the rooms from the living room, bedroom, and kitchen to the bathroom.

All are harmoniously coordinated in color, light, and decorative items to the aesthetics of the building.

A beautiful, luxurious interior project that meets the requirements of the investor is a success in terms of bot.

03. Construction

Mrs. Yen's House

Design & Built: Hac san

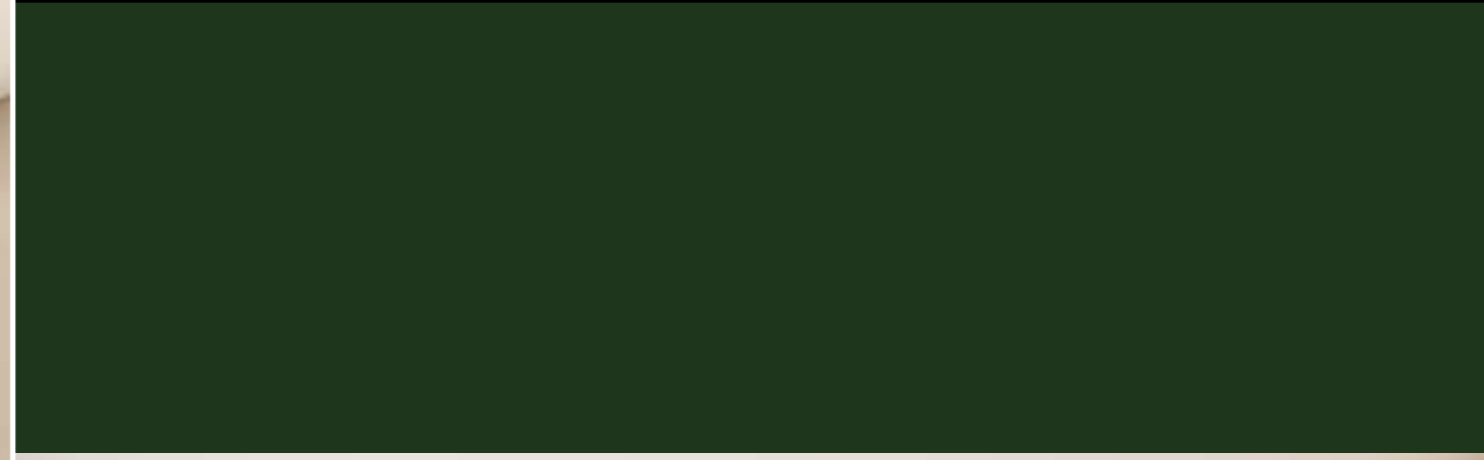

Location: Bo Phú Residence, HCMC

Mrs. Yen's house is located in an adjacent planning area, the structure of the house is a combined 2 small apartments, with a floor area of 6x8m. Currently, the house has 4 floors, the ground floor is used for business, the second floor is for office, her family will be on the 3rd and 4th floors.

Yen's family has 4 members, so the architect has to solve the problem of spatial arrangement to meet the requirements of diverse uses in a small area.

Because the house is quite small and has many functions, architects and homeowners agree to choose a simple design direction, unnecessary partitions are removed so that the space is airy, making full use of natural light.

Mr. Khanh's villa

Mr. Khanh's villa has undergone a sophisticated renovation, creating a unique and luxurious living space in the Neo-classical style. With a blend of dark tones and a harmonious fusion of modern and classical elements, the kitchen area exudes convenience and elegance.

The kitchen, the heart of the villa, is designed to reflect comfort and sophistication. An open layout and clever design optimize space, providing an ideal environment for cooking and socializing. A large dining table and modern appliances are seamlessly integrated, creating focal points within the space.

Timeline: January 2024

Location: D12 HCM

Design & Built by The Lab Saigon

The two bedrooms for Mr. Khanh's daughters are designed with respect for individuality and personal preferences. Dark hues combined with classical lines create a cozy and comfortable space, where modern details such as LED lights and elegant decorations are incorporated to enhance overall sophistication and modernity.

Overall, Mr. Khanh's villa is not just a place of residence but also an artistic masterpiece that combines tradition and modernity, creating a stylish and upscale living space.
